CHARGES

For Magistrate in North, the charge is usually in three paragraphs: - Magistrate introduce himself "I"; - state the contents and particulars of the offence "That you"; - Direction: I hereby direct. Then signature and date.

For High Court in the North: differences between that of magistrate North - the charge is only on paragraph (no paragraph on introduction or direction), - It is usually signed by a law officer, - no "that you" in HC. Instead of "Punishable under<sup>1</sup>" in HC you use "contrary to".

In the Magistrate Court in the South, the charge is one paragraph and the police draft it.

In the High Court South; the charge is two paragraphs namely; Statement of offence and particulars of offence.

HINT;

In the Exam, when asked to draft the information; then you are to draft the one that has Statement of Offence and Particulars of Offence. If you are asked to draft the charge, you are to draft the one that goes straight to the point.
